

High School

Co-creators of tomorrow.

 marathon

Like light bulbs and sliced bread, we change the way people experience the world. We're doing away with stodgy and safe to chase after something far more worthwhile—possibility, discovery and being the people, the place, that ultimately changes our students for the better. Forever.

There is no other school quite like it—we promise. We are Maranatha Christian Academy.

Inspire. Re-Inspire. Repeat.

Our teachers are, well, amazing—a distinctive, committed, dedicated community of educators who are unabashed and driven, sincere and passionate, and see educating as their calling.

Teaching our students to courageously embrace change, empathically solve today's (and tomorrow's) problems, and impact progress is nothing short of challenging. Using design-thinking principles, we've created a space for students to learn from themselves, each other, and all of us—a place where big questions serve as golden opportunities for teachers to show wide-eyed minds where to look, but not what to see. If this sounds like a distinctly fresh, particularly intentional approach that's not at all what you thought, then we've reached our passing grade.

Re-thinking education can be pretty ambitious.

Good thing we do ambitious well.

The sharks are circling.

At Maranatha, things don't just happen. There is intentionality in everything we do. So, when we push our juniors and seniors into shark-infested waters, some may say we've gone too far. We beg to differ.

In our Beyond Impact Entrepreneurship Center, we are developing courageous change makers and impactful innovators. Students create their own business, participate in a Shark Tank competition, work as a consultant with companies, and present their ideas/inventions to Venture Capitalists. Here, the risk is worth the reward.

Infinite possibilities.

Utilizing the latest technology such as our laser cutter, 3D printer, robots, and engineering software, our S.T.E.A.M. (Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts, and Math) Center is generating big ideas. A new normal of teaching our students to collaborate and connect, grow through failure, embrace exploration, and pivot with perseverance is creating a space where curiosity is applauded, discovery is championed, and ultimately, world-shakers are made.

Bringing the U to you.

Since when has the way things have always been done been a good enough reason to keep doing things? At Maranatha, we're not afraid of standing for something different. With our Associate of Arts Degree Program, we are redefining what a high school experience can be. We offer students the opportunity to learn from in-person professors and earn their degree all within the safety and security of our campus. The beauty is students still participate in high school activities, such as prom, sports, theater, and more.

If getting an AA degree doesn't suit you, PSEO and AP classes are also available. From Hiptronics to Robotics, Psychology to Medical Innovations, we offer classes that allow students to build an academic plan that fits their future.

God, I have a question.

Have you ever questioned God? Here, questions and introspection are encouraged. In fact, we want students to know what they believe and why. With Christian worldview woven throughout all classes, students are able to learn not only about God but also to know God. From the classroom to chapel to conversations in The Coffee House, we are here to listen, encourage, and support.

Be your best you.

While others keep fighting to be more alike, look more alike, and think more alike, we invite you to be yourself. Comfortable, open, welcoming, and “found my fit” are words that new students use to describe Maranatha.

In everything we say and do, we want it to be a true reflection of who we are, what we believe, and what we stand for. This is an invitation to join us, while never losing the heart of what makes you...you.
